AUNT BETSEY DIES BURIAL TOMORROW

QUAINT OLD CHARACTER KNOWN TO MARYVILLE FO...

HERE OVER HALF CENTURY

Town Isn't What It Used to Be, She Was Wont to Declare—Leaves a Son and Brothers

Aunt Betsey Robinson is dead. This was the word that passed around town Saturday afternoon, and as the citizens of Maryville heard of her death they stopped to make some remark about the personage who for more than half a century had been a familiar character.

Aunt Betsey signed her name to legal papers as Betsey Coleman.

Aunt Betsey passed away at two o'clock Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Hawkins, on East Second street. The immediate cause of her death was cancer, although, because of her advanced age, she has been failing in health for the past few years. At the time of her death she was 74 years and nearly four months old. Mrs. Hawkins had been nursing her for more than five months.

The funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Price & McNeal undertaking parlors. The burial will be in Oak Hill cemetery.

She Was Born in Kentucky.

This quaint old woman, the fifth of nine children, was born at Union Star, Ky., a small cross-roads town about sixty miles below Louisville. Fifty-two years ago her father brought his family here fro mAlbany, and Aunt Betsey had never been out of the town but once since. In the summer of 1912 she visited for two weeks with her brothers, James, Jerry and Allen at Gilman City, Mo. Besides her brothers and her son, Joe Stout, better known as Joe Betsey, she has no surviving relatives.

Aunt Betsey was married to Joe Stout, with whom she only lived a year. To this union was born the one son, with whom Aunt Betsey made her home up until within the last few years. Their home was on West Ninth street, on a corner lot beside the water tower.

Probably no character in Maryville was better known to everybody than Aunt Betsey. Up until late years, when her age prevented her, she could be seen making her way about the streets of the town, a little bent in body and cane in hand, but with a cheerful smile on her face and a greeting for all passers-by.

Everybody Knew Her Here.

She was a privileged character around the town. She attended all public entertainments, and particularly loved to see baseball games. In the days of the old Mink league her familiar form could be seen seated in the grandstand urging the Maryville boys to greater efforts. In all sports she demanded fair play, and when the crowd would start "ragging" the umpire for a decision against the home boys, Aunt Betsey was sure to take the umpire's side and speak her sentiments.

Scenes of the earlier days could be described in an interesting manner by her. She loved to tell of her first impressions of the town in its earliest days. She is quoted as saying that when she first came to town there were about thirty houses here. Among these were three brick buildings, the court house, at that time a log affair, stood where the Price & McNeal Furniture company now has its place of business.

Told About the Old Town.

"Everybody was friendly when I first came to Maryville," Aunt Betsey said in an interview several days ago. "They ain't that way now; style has ruined them. They was sensible then and wore good clothes. Good Lord! You wouldn't ketch me up town in one of them dresses they wear nowadays.

"I remember one good time we had when our boys came home from the Civil War. They was just building a new court house then, and they hurried and built a floor in it so they could dance. They danced all night. And I was one of the dancers. Yes, sir, I was one of the dancers."

Aunt Betsey had one habit not entirely approved of by the other members of the sex. She loved good tobacco. Although she both chewed and smoked, she preferred the former. Many a grocer in Maryville has cut more than one plug for Aunt Betsey and, when she offered payment, said, "Oh, that's all right, Aunt Betsey Come back again when you run out."

Of recent years the old lady has suffered much from a cancerous growth on her face. Only a few weeks ago she became of unsound mind and had to have a guardian appointed for her. J. F. Roelofson, public administrator, holds her property in trust.

DEPUTY SHERIFF ATHERTON LOCATES STOLEN CAR HERE

MAN HELD ON 3 COUNTS

Cal Williams Found in Possession of Ford Lost by an Andrew County Farmer—Released on Bond

Cal Williams, a farmer living ten miles southwest of Maryville, was arrested Saturday in Maryville on three charges: Driving a motor car without a license, grand larceny, and receiving stolen property. And on that license—or lack of license rather—hangs a tale of a remarkable coincidence.

About two months ago Leo (Spud) Atherton, deputy sheriff, lost a Ford runabout. It disappeared from in front of the Elks Club. A few days later it was found in an orchard on the Williams place, with the license plates and other equipment missing. The license had a dealer's number on it, that of the Sewell company of Maryville.

Since then, and in the line of duty, Atherton has been keeping an eye out for stolen motor cars. Saturday Cal Williams drove a Ford touring car into Maryville. On it was Atherton's missing number. Imagine with what joy the deputy sheriff pounced upon it!

Williams was arrested on the charge of driving without a license. Inquiry developed the fact that a Ford touring car belonging to J. T. Tipton, living ten miles northwest of Savannah, had disappeared a week ago Friday from the fair grounds at Savannah. Marks that Tipton had chiseled upon the frame helped to identify the car in Maryville as his property. Picnic equipment that the Tipton family had left in the car was found among the Williams household effects, according to Sheriff John F. Dowden.

Williams says that he obtained the Ford in a trade with a traveler who seemed anxious to dispose of it.

On the first charge, that of driving a motor car without a license, Williams was released on $400 bond to appear at the September term of circuit court. In answer to the two other counts Williams appeared before Justice W. C. Johnson at 10 o'clock this morning. Upon the motion of the attorneys for both sides, the preliminary trial was continued until 10 o'clock Tuesday, September 9, to give time for collection of evidence and witnesses. Williams' bond was fixed at $1,500 and was signed by his father, M. C. Wiblams, and by S. H. Kemp. Shinabarger, Blagg, and Ellison are attorneys for the defendant.

MRS. J H. MARTIN, 49, DIES AFTER ILLNESS OF FEW DAYS

Husband and Two Sons, One Recently Returned From the Navy

Mrs. J. H. Martin of North Market street, Maryville, died at the St. Francis hospital at 3:45 o'clock Sunday morning. The cause of her death was cerebro-spinal meningitis. This is an isolated case of this disease, according to Dr. Wil Wallis, her attending physician.

Mrs. Martin, who was 49 years old, had been ill only since last Tuesday evening. She is survived by her husband, who is construction engineer for the Merkle-Hine Construction company of Kansas City, and two sons, Eugene and Howard Martin. The elder son, Eugene, was recently released from the navy and returned to Maryville about two weeks ago. The family has resided in this city for the past four or five years, and during their residence here Mrs. Martin had been very active in Presbyterian church circles.

Mr. Martin and sons, with the body, left this afternoon for Salina, Kans., her former home, where funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. They will be accompanied to Salina by Mrs. Martin's sister, Mrs. Nellie K. Martin of Salina, who came Saturday night, and by Mr. Martin's sister, Mrs. W. H. Woodward of White Lake, S. Dak., who arrived last night. Other immediate relatives surviving Mrs. Martin are her father, Aaron Keefer of Salina, her sister, Mrs. Nellie K. Martin, and one brother, both of Salina.

Miss Babe Ford went to Kansas City yesterday morning.

EXPLAINS DEMAND U.S. WORKERS HAVE

REV. COX SPEAKS ON "INDUSTRIAL DEMOCRACY AND CHURCH"

HIS LABOR DAY SERMON

Finds Times Have Changed and Rule of Capitalists is Passing—War Added to Trouble

"Labor organizations are asking that our democracy be an industrial democracy, and they want industrial democracy defined in the same terms we use for political democracy — a democracy of the people, by the people and for the people," declared Rev. Gilbert S. Cox in his Labor Day sermon on "Industrial Democracy and the Church" at the First Methodist church last night.

"This new doctrine seems revolutionary because the past and present industrial organization has been arranged for the profit of the capitalists alone.

"A generation ago the individual wore clothes that were homespun. In those days where the article was produced and changed from the raw material to the finished article in the home. There was no necessity for a division of labor then. But today one part is made in New York, another in San Francisco and the two are assembled in Kansas City, involving a complex system of division of labor.

Laborer Imposed Upon.

"Under the control of corporations the individual laborer has been imposed upon. The corporations have followed the theory of production for profit and have worked out that theory by a system of raising the prices and lowering the wages of the men who work for them.

"We have come to the time when the motto 'He profits most who serves best' must be adopted. This is the only fair basis for the distribution of the fruits of labor.

"The war just passed has aggravated the labor unrest. This aggravation has been brought about by the policy of the government to 'throw a bone' to the laborers and satisfy their demands for the time being. In other words, a bag of gold was hung up to increase production. Every demand of labor was met by an increase in wages by government intervention.

"No Class Rule Best."

"The program of the radical socialists is no better than the program followed by the capitalists in working out the problems of labor. The rule of one class is no better than the rule of another class. The capitalists have ruled the United States with poor results, and the laborers' rule in Russia with worse results.

"The church in the past has advocated the reforming of the individual as the means of solving the problems of this world. Today the church realizes that there is another side that must be considered, that of the inculcation into our religion the spirit of the doctrine of the brotherhood of man.

"In other words, we are led to the conclusion that the solution of the labor problem lies in the adoption of an industrial democracy wherein the rights and obligations of all are evenly distributed."

SHOOTS HIMSELF AS GIRL SAYS NO

JESSE WALLACE EXPECTED TO RECOVER FROM WOUND

RIGHT LUNG PUNCTURED

Returned Soldier Finds Former Sweetheart Faithful to Husband Who is in Prison

Disappointment in love—it is an old story!

Jesse James Wallace of Maryville is in the St. Francis hospital today as the result of a self-inflicted bullet wound which he suffered yesterday afternoon at the home of James W. Seals, 1015 East Thompson street, Maryville. According to Dr. H. S. Rowlett, who attended the injured man, he will probably recover unless infection sets in. The bullet, which was from a .22 rifle, entered at the right side of the breast bone, passed through the right lung and lodged in the back at the top of the ninth rib.

Standing at the door of her home this noon Mrs. Benton Gray, formerly Miss Bertha Seals, the daughter of the family, told how it happened. Mrs. Gray's husband, whom she married some month sago, is now in the state penitentiary, serving sentence for stealing goods at a farm house east of Maryville.

Wallace had kept company with her steadily for a long time before he away to serve in the United States army. He spent seven months at an army post in the state of Washington. While he was gone Bertha married Gray.

Wallace returned and resumed his attentions. Several times, according to Mrs. Gray, he threatened to kill himself if she would have nothing to do with him. Yesterday afternoon she told him definitely that she was going to wait for the release of her husband.

Then Wallace walked into another room of the house, took down a rifle that was hanging on the wall and shot himself. No one was in the room at the time.

Dr. Karl Mallotte was called, then the sheriff and then Dr. Rowlett.

Wallace's parents live near Clearmont. He has two brothers, Orville and Oakley, in Maryville.

STRIKE SITUATION CLEARS UP A BIT

PRESIDENT PLANS CONFERENCE OF CAPITAL AND LABOR

TO END WAGE QUESTION

Leaders Expect Celebrations Today to Pass Off Without Incident—Radicals a Menace

Washington, Sept. 1—The surcharged atmosphere of the industrial situation is clearing today. President Wilson's announcement that he had decided to call a conference of capital and labor with a view of putting the whole question of wages upon another footing was expected to have a marked effect upon the labor crisis that has been developing during the last few months. Further details of the proposed conference probably will be revealed from the White House before the President starts on his western speaking tour Wednesday evening. Although labor leaders expressed their part orderly, the fear was entertained that the more radical elements might attempt to stage demonstrations not calcuated to aid their cause. However, it is believed that the most radical groups would be sobered as a result of the assurance contained in the president's message.

Sails From Brest as Foch Bids Him Farewell—Investigators Promise "Startling Results"

Paris, Sept. 1.—"Startling results" will be shown by the report of the congressional committee on war expenditures and the treatment of prisoners which made unsuccessful effort Saturday to have General Pershing testify, according to a statement today by Representative Bland of Indiana. Bland says the committee will show the army sold its whole supplies to the French for four hundred million dollars, including food and clothing worth two hundred and seventy million dollars, which shouud have been sold in the United States to reduce the high cost of living.

"If Pershing has any political ambitions the present situation will prove a death blow to them," said Bland.

"We should have prevented Pershing from leaving but we did not want to be discourteous," said one member of the committee.

France Bids Pershing Good-by.

Brest, France, Sept. 1.—Amidst plaudits of the French and the affectionate farewell of his officers and doughboys, General Pershing sailed today for the United States, after staying in France over two years. A squadron of warships in the harbor fired a salute as the Leviathan, with Pershing and a number of American soldiers aboard, moved from her moorings. Among the last of noted persons to say farewell to General Pershing was Marshall Foch.

RAILROAD MAN IS OUT WITH FACTS

So Badly Rundown He Had to Quit Work — Gains Twenty Pounds on Tanlac

Tanlac has not only relieved me of a case of stomach trouble that made me miserable for three or four years, but I have actually gained twenty pounds in weight besides," said Charles O. Schwendel, of 3115 Vliet street, Milwaukee, Wis., recently. Mr. Schwendel is night watchman in the yards of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad and has lived in Milwaukee all his life.

"Nothing I would eat agreed with mee," he continued, and the sight or smell of food would nauseate me. Right after eating I would have terrible pains in my stomach, I would bloat up with gas and suffer with pains around my heart. At times this gas would almost cut off my breath and would make me so weak I could hardly stand and when I would bend over to throw a switch I would pitch forward on my hands and knees. I couldn't sleep more than two hours a day and just had to force myself to work.

"I tried everything I heard of, but got no better. Then I laid off from work for some time trying to rest up. One of my neighbors persuaded me to try Tanlac and it has made me feel like a new man. I am eating any and every thing I want without the least trouble from it and I sleep like a log. I havent had a pain or an ache of any kind and will always have a good word to say for Tanlac."

GARMENTS TO BE RICH AND BRIGHT

FINE COLORS AND FABRICS ARE PREPARED FOR WOMEN

BATIK TO BE POPULAR

Chance for Economy in Dress, Now That Paris No Longer Rules World of Fashion

By Clara World.

New York, Sept. 1.—Brilliancy in coloring and richness in fabric will mark the American fashions for the coming Winter and Spring. With a great sense of freedom the American designers of garments have cast aside all the sombre thoughts and sombre colors of wartime days, and have welcomed in their place the warm tones of browns and red browns, marvellous cerises, gorgeous contrasting trimmings for the dark fabrics and for blouses and even gowns the most intricately designed and exquisitely dyed Batiks. This is the decree of leaders of fashion, issued at the Fashion Show held here

Batik Comes Into Its Own.

Possibly the "attic shops" and the "attic artists" of Greenwich Village have been the inspiration for this riotious use of color. Be that as it may, the Batik artists of that community will assuredly reap a harvest in the next year, for every designer in this country as well as in Paris has realized endless beautiful possibilities in the use of these materials. And if you can afford a Batik garment this year you may be sure that you are truly fashionable. The price of a Batik, well as its artistic value, varies literally with the intricacy of design, however, and the modestly dressed woman will only have the opportunity to gaze covetously at these filmy costly creations i nthe shop windows.

Paris Loses Leadership

There will be a chance at economy in dress from now on, say the American designers hopefully, for no longer do American women demand gowns from Paris, nor even garments designed after Parisian models. But they hasten to add the American designer has introduced with the simplicity of design richness of fabric such as we have never before been able to produce. And so for this Winter the fabrics are very heavy velvets, plushes and limpid silks, and by next Spring the models will be predominantly of chiffon velvets.

Not to go to Extremes

At the Fashion Show held in this city by the Associated Garment Manufacturers, men and women buyers and designers from all parts of the country commented particularly on the fact that the American models shown have not followed the dictates of Paris, which for generations has set the styles for the world. Paris may go to whatever extremes she desires in the shortness of skirts, but in America women will conservatively appear in skirts neither too long nor too short.

Sport Suit Remains Short.

The sport suit will, of course, still remain short, but generally the skirts will be about seven inches from the ground, so that they will reach the shoe-top safely. Exception to this rule is made for the evening gowns which are shorter and are fashioned with very narrow trains, and in some cases with a double train, each half dropping from the sides of the back. To add to the smartness of this effect, bodice is cut extremely low in the back, there is apparently no bodice whatever at the back. As to materials the evening gown depends largely upon the softness of the fabric itself. It is rarely embellished with decorations, unless it be a dashing ornament of extremely contrasting color.

Near-Furs New Creation.

To the woman who has never been able to afford seal skin coats and other furs, American weavers have at last brought great happiness, for they have created as many near-furs as there are beasts of the woods. There are Ungava seal wraps, for instance, straight from the looms that would almost put a real seal to shame, so perfect are they in imitation. Karimi, chilna and prybiloff, all textile furs, are used lavishly in all the Winter wraps and are shamelessly trimmed or finished off with real furs of a contrasting character. It is not unusual to see an ungava seal coat finished with very wide cuffs and collar of real brown monkey or real beaver, and it is quite usual to find coats with collars costing several times as much as the rest of the garment.

Capes are Passing Out.

The popularity of the cape, is rapidly passing into history and the dolman styles are already passe. No longer must we look at the always rather clumsy and badly proportioned dolman effect with its sleeves begining somewhere near the elbow or appearing in all manner of grotesque slashes somewhere between the wrist and the knee. Instead, the coats are fashioned with a frank admission of the fact that there are shoulders and arms for the ordinary person. And with the passin gof the dolman effect goes the narrow bottomed skirt. For the Winter these narrow skirts are still shown in limited numbers, but undobtedly by Spring the skirts will be straight.

Suit of Chiffon Velvet.

The smartest Spring style of suit was Fashions Galley 2 „ a of soft black chiffon velvet with a white check running through the weave cut with a flaring bottom to the coat, the flare being made with inserts of white. The skirt, of medium length, was cut stright, and the whole garment was more of the mannishly tailored type than those we have been wont to see. The collars of women's suits are cut much as men's collars except that the lapel begins much farther down. And if you would be beforehand in your Spring planning of clothes you should choose any shade of brown, particularly the warm red ones. Blue is always a stable color and scarcely needs mentioning, and for this winter you will be safe with either brown or purple in all its exquisite variations, including the begonias.

Bands of Fur to be Used.

Dresses are elaborated smartly with textile furs arranged in bands, and in this case the hat may be finished off with a band of the same. Hats, as usual, are either large or small, and only depend on the rest of the costume or their size and general style. The Winter models are mostly of velvet. Trimmings for dresses seem to run the whole gamut of discovered artistry. There are odd buttons, tassels, fringes, braid, bands of fur, heavily woven textiles and even ostrich feathers used anywhere and in any way that will add color simply to the costume. Ostrich feathers are especially effective as trimmings, since they are made in such striking colors, and are often put on in bands as a gay contrast to the rest of the garment.

NAZIMOVA'S RISE TO FAME UNPARALLELED

Famous Star, Who Appears at Electric Theatre, Has Had Career of Unbroken Successes

Alla Nazimova, who will be seen in "Eye for Eye" at the Electric theatre on the 3rd and 4th of September, has become the supreme screen star of the day.

Born in Talta, a little Crimean town on the shores of the Black Sea, she was taken to Geneva when a child. While here she showed a remarkable aptitude for music and became a violinist of distinction at the age of twelve. She gave up music as a profession, however, and devoted herself to the study of dramatic art. Immediately upon graduation she became a leading woman with a stock company in Kostroma, Russia, and played over two hundred parts during her first season. Soon after this she moved to Petrograd where she appeared in the leading theatres in all prominent roles, including "Zaza," "Camille," "Magda," "Hedda Gabler," "Trilby" and "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray." She attempted to make a production of "The Chosen People," a revolutionary play, but was stopped by the Russian censors.

In was in this play, however, that she made her first appearance in America, which was produced at the Criterion theatre. During this time she appeared in the Russian language but at the suggestion of Henry Miller she began to study English and in four short months appeared as "Hedda Gabla" in this language. This is almost inconceivable, but true, and it goes to show the genius and determination of this wonderful woman.

Nazimova's career in this country has been a series of continuous and tremendous successes which have placed her at the tpo of the ladder of draamtic and screen fame.

Since "War Brides," all her appearances on the silver sheet have been in Naximova productions, where she has appeared in "Revelation," which has been called a classic by the most notable critics of the day, and "Toys of Fate," another super-screen production. In "Eye for Eye," which is perhaps her greatest achievement, and in which she plays the part of Hassouna, a beautiful and fiery Arabian girl, she has added new laurels to her wreath of fame.

WAR RISK INSURANCE QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

The Democrat-Forum will print whenever possible information sent out by the government concerning the government insurance. All letters of inquiry that cannot be answered here will be forwarded to Washington for answer.

Question 1. What kinds of policies are offered by the Bureau of War Risk Insurance into which I may convert my present term insurance?

Answer. The Bureau offers six (6) policies, as follows:

Ordinary Life Policy
Twenty-payment Life Policy
Thirty-payment Life Policy
Twenty-year Endowment Policy.
Thirty-year Endowment Policy.
Endowment Policy maturing at the age of 62.

Question 2. How long a time do I have in which to convert my insurance?

Answer Five years after peace is declared. If you keep your term insurance in force during this period you can convert it at any time. If you do not convert it, it will cease at the end of five years.

Question 3. Will the Government continue to carry the insurance after it is converted?

Answer. Yes.

Question 4. Do I have to pass a physical examination in order to convert my insurance?

Answer. No.

Question 5. How may I convert my present insurance into one of the permanent forms?

Answer. By making application in writing to the Bureau of War Risk Insurance on the form furnished by the Bureau. Such application must be accompanied by the first premium for the converted insurance.

Question 6. When is the premium payable on the converted insurance, and how must it be paid?

Answer. Premiums may be paid monthly, in which case they are payable on the first day of the month. They may also be paid quarterly, semi-annually or annually. Should you pay quarterly, semi-annually or annually and die, the discounted value of the premiums paid in advance beyond the calendar month in which death occurs would be refunded.

All premiums are due on the first of the month, and the insured has the remainder of that month as a grace period in which to pay the premium. No interest charge is made for this grace period and the policy remains in full force during that period, the unpaid premiums being deducted from any settlement under the policy.

Payment should be made by money order or check payable to THE TREASURER OF THE UNITED STATES, and sent to the PREMIUM RECEIPT SECTION, BUREAU OF WAR RISK INSURANCE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

Question 7. Do I get any credit on my converted policy for the premiums which I am paying on my present term insurance?

Answer. No.

105 JEFFERSON TOWNSHIP MEN OPPOSED TO L. OF N.

Father Placid Sends in a Petition of Protest Against Action Taken by State Committee

A petition signed by 105 men of Jefferson township has been sent to Chairman M. E. Ford of the Democratic County Committee, protesting against the action of the Democratic State Committee in endorsing the Leagen of Nations without reservations. The petition of protest was sent by Father Placid and he writes that four-fifths of the Democrats in that township are opposed to teh League of Nations in its present form.

Jefferson township nas long been a banner Democratic precinct but the South Jefferson precinct which includes Conception, was carried by Hughes at the last presidential election by a majority of 24 votes, the vote being 62 for Wilson and 86 for Hughes. It is said that it was the first time that South Jefferson was ever carried by a Republican candidate for president. In 1912 the South Jefferson precinct gave Wilson 113 to 31 for Taft and 6 for Roosevelt.

The folowing is the petition:

"We, the undersigned citizens and Democrats of Jefferson township, the banner township of the Democratic party in Nodaway county, Missouri, are hereby protesting against the action of the State Democratic Committee in endorsing the League of Nations without any reservations, and in claiming that the Democrats of the State of Missouri were in favor of such endorsement, and in making it appear that all those who are holding a different opinion on the League of Nations were followers of Senator Reed. If the State Democratic Committee wishes to know the true sentiment of the people in this respect let them call the primary election of which they are speaking in their resolutions, but of which they seemed afraid.

An Electric Washer is a Good Machine

The above is a picture of the Maytag Electric Washer. It is a very compact machine, taking up very little room, and the motor is located under the washer. The motor is entirely enclosed which protects it and also makes it perfectly safe.

The tub is made a little better than the average washer tub, and the peg type of dolly is used, which is smooth and will not injure clothes, but which keeps them in constant motion with the hot suds swirling thru them.

The wringer is one of the finest things about the Maytag.. It swings so that it can be used in three positions and it can be instantly thrown into gear either when the washer is running or when it is stopped. It can be reversed by a simple twist of the starting lever, so that it is easy to handle without tearing clothes.

In fact, the Maytag is a mighty good washer.

Come and let us show it to you.

WOULD HAVE EVERY SCHOOL PLANT A TREE THIS FALL

American Forestry Association Directs Attention to Importance of September In Life of Tree

Washington, Sept. 1. — Calling on every school to plant a tree this fall, the American Forestry Association directs attention to the approaching Arbor days, and the importance of the month of September in the life of a tree. "Organize your school and plant a Memorial Tree," says Charles Lathrop Peck, president of the association, who points to what a fine memorial a living tree wil make in 1940, if the class of 1920 plants a tree now. The association will send free tree-planting instructions and a tree-planting day program to anyone who asks for them. Important points for September are:

Prune all dead branches of importance. Do not prune unnecessarily; prune as little of the live wood as possible; make all cuts close to the trunk or main limb, and cover all wounds with coal tar.

Remove and destroy egg masses of the tussock moth and like leaf-eating insects.

For removal in winter mark all hoplessly infested and dead trees. You can mark these better before the leaves drop, but you can cut them down to better advantage in winter.

Plant evergreens in early September. Move them with a ball of soil.

Every day this fall will be Arbor Day, the association says, and it urges that all memorial tree-planting be reported, that it may enter these trees on the national honor roll it is compiling and for which it is sending out free certificates of registration. The approaching Arbor Days follow:

Georgia, first Friday in December; Hawaii, first Friday in November; Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Michigan, Maine, Minnesota, Nevada, New Hempshire, New Mexico, North Dakota, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Vermont, Virginia, Wisconsin, Washington, Wyoming, by proclamation of their respective governors; North Carolina, first Friday after November 1; Porto Rico, last Friday in November; South Carolina, third Friday in November; Tennessee, date in November named by county superintendents.

WOULD FIND OUT ABOUT SHOE COST

REP. IGOE OF MISSOURI HAS RESOLUTION TO INVESTIGATE

SAYS G. O. P. IS IN WAY

Republicans Accused of Obstructing the Attempt to Lower Living Prices One at a Time

Washington, Sept. 1.—Despite delays and obstructions placed in his way by Republican members of the House, particularly Speaker Gillett and Floor Leader Mondell, Representative William L. Igoe, Democrat, of Missouri, has finally succeeded in getting through the House his resolution directing an investigation by the Federal Trade Sommission into the high cost of shoes.

Republicans have placed obstacles in the resolution's way ever since it was introduced, which was before the Republican plan for a recess of the House was bafked by President Wilson's request that the House remain in session and give its attention to the high cost of living problem. When it appeared that the House was going to recess from early in August to September 9, Representative Igoe sought to get through a resolution directing the shoe inquiry to be made during the recess in order that a report might be brought in immediately after the proposed recess.

No Chance for Recognition.

But through the tactics of Floor Leader Mondell and the autocratic rulings of Speaker Gillett, neither Mr. Igoe, former Speaker Champ Clark nor any other Democrat was able to get recognition o nthe floor of the House in order to bring the resolution to a vote.

At the insistence of Mr. Igoe, the resolution was made to call for an investigation of shoes, only. The plan to have it also include the price of clothing, sugar and coffee was opposed by Mr. Igoe for the reason that an inquiry of such wide scope would probably consume months, maybe even a year or two, and the report thus not brought in in time to be of any benefit in dealing with the present emergency. He insisted that the resolution call only for an investigation into the cause and necessity, if any, for the present high cost of shoes, and the threatened raise of fifty per cent additional in their cost during the next few months, the Federal Trade Commission continue such an investigation made back in 1917 through 1918 and 1919 and thus bring it down to the present.

If the inquiry should develop that there has been profiteering in shoes, that anybody from the maker down to the retailer has ben making undue profits in boots and shoes, it would show to congress what the methods of those who are profiteering are and would enable congress to deal intelligently with the situation. In short, Mr. Igoe urged that an investigation into one line would form a basis on which congress might legislate against all form of profiteering. Such an investigation, confined to one thing, could be made in a very short time, a few weeks, whereas if the Federal Trade Commission were directed to investigate into charges of profiteering in a half dozen lines, so much time would be consumed that the commission's report would come too late to be of any help to congress in drafting legislation to meet the present situation.

Attempts to get the resolution through the house failed until Mr. Igoe finally succeeded in getting it on the unanimous consent calendar, whence he was able to get it up for consideration because none of the Republicans who opposed the investigation cared to make objection. To have made such objection then would have placed the objecting member on record against such inquiry, and when the Missouri congressman succeeded in maneuvering the members on the other side of the floor into that position he got his resolution through.

ELEVATORS AND WAREHOUSES FULL, WHEAT SHIPMENTS END

St. Louis Forced to Hold Up Temporarily Receipts of Grain — Accommodation son Seaboard Cramped

St. Louis, Sept. 1.—All shipments of wheat to this city have stopped.

There is no place to put the wheat. Elevators and warehouses here are filled to overflowing. Benjamin H. Long of the Unites States Grain Corporation, heer, estimates that from 3,000,000 to 3,750,000 bushels of wheat are stored here.

"It is an unusual condition," Lang says, "but it wil be cleared up in a few days. The elevators on the seaboard are full, owing to some little shipping delay, and we have no shipping outlet. For this reason wheat shipment to St. Louis has been temporarily ended."

RED, WHITE AND BLUE CORN DEVELOPED BY A PROFESSOR

Takes the Ears up One at a Time For a Special Treatment of His Own

Chicago, Aug. 30.—Luther Burbank please note.

Professor W. L. Woodburn, of Northwestern University, has evolved a form of corn with ears of red, white and blue.

The system used by the professor to attain this patriotic effect is remarkable, say his colleagues.

About every ear of corn on the stalk he ties a paper bag to prevent the pollen from falling on other ears. Using a blowpipe he then blows a special pollen, his own discovery on the ears, producing the red, white and blue corn.

Ought to Have a Lot of Kraut.

Greeley, Col., Aug. 30.—Unless kraut factories dash to the rescue quickly tons of cabbage are doomed to decay on the ground in this district. According to cabbage shippers the Union Pacific has refused to furnish any more refrigerator car, iced or not iced, for cabbage, potato, or onion loading in Weld county. No need of cars for fruit shipments and lack of ice, due to the burning of ice houses and plants in Denver and Ogden, Utah, are the principal reasons. Cabbage dropped from $1.40 to $1.15 a hundred as the result.

14-Egg-a-Day Hen to Scientists.

LaCrosse, Wis., Aug. 30.—This is another chapter in the life of the West Salem pullet, only hen in the world that ever laid nineteen eggs in one day. J. H. Benson, LaCrosse poultryman, who didn't believe the story and after investigating filed an affidavit that he saw the hen lay fourteen eggs in one day, has fourteen chicks from eggs laid from the famous hen. Arrangements have been made to send the body of the hen to the State University laboratory after she dies.

Findlay, O., Sept. 1.—Henry Flater, horticulturist, has an apple tree upon which thirty-six different kinds of fruit grow with regularity. COMETS WIN BASEBALL GAME FROM THE VITALA BOOSTERS

But St. Joseph Players Question Last Score—Stephens and Tilson Help Local Line-Up

A medium sized crowd yesterday saw the Maryville Comets whip the Vitala Boosters of St. Joseph at baseball by a score of—well, the official record-keeper had it 5 to 2, but some of the St. Joseph players when last seen, were still holding out for a reservation of one run less for Maryville. In the last half of the eighth inning, Henry Buhler scored as Tobin was being tagged for the third out in an attempt to make a single count for two bases. The scorekeeper gave Buhler the benefit of the doubt, and the game will go down in history as 5 to 2.

"Red" Stephens, who was a catcher for Maryville in 1918, showed that being a lieutenant in the American army overseas hadn't spoiled his eye for work behind the bat. He made several neat catches of high fouls, got a single out of three times at bat and scored one of Maryville's runs. Harry Tilson, a former Maryville boy, came down from Burlington Junction to occupy his old place at first base. He made two hits out of three times at bat.

Saddler struck out eleven Maryville batters. Bleuel and Black disposed of nine St. Joseph men the same way.

Maryville made one run in the first inning, when Phillips scored from second on Stephens' single to center. The Boosters tied it up in the first half of the fourth, when Gilmore's three-bagger brought in Schleicher, who had reached first on an error. Gilmore was caught off third and run down by Stephens.

The Comets made it safe in the last half of the same inning. Stephens walked. Black singled through the pitcher. Tobin was hit by a pitched ball, filling the bases. Tilson singled to center, scoring Stephens and Black. Paul Buhler and Conley struck out. Tobin managed to get caught off third and scored when the catcher allowed a throw to get away fro mhim. Then Bleuel did it.

The Boosters got their second and last run in the fifth on a single by Gilmore with the bases full. J. Wilke scored from third.

The line-up:

Maryville—Phillips, rf; H. Buhler, 2b; Stephens, c; Black, cf and p; Tobin, lf; Tilson, 1b; P. Buhler, 3b; Conley, ss; Bleuel, p; Hise, cf.

Vitala Boosters—J. Wilke, 2b; Boline, cf; Terry, 1b; Schleicher, c; Gilomre, ss; A. Wilke, lf; Peterson, 3b; Baughman, rf; Saddler, p.

The game was played at the fair grounds. Ed Keck umpired.

BUT WHERE IS MARYVILLE'S SCHOOL FOR WOMEN VOTERS?

Other Missouri Cities Are Showing Activity in This Line—Eight Already Held, Sixteen Planned

Women of Missouri who are desirous of acquiring knowledge on how to make intelligent use of the vote are making their desire so plainly and frequently manifest that citizenship schools wherein this knowledge is imparted cannot be organized with sufficient rapidity to meet this visible demand.

Citizenship schools have already been successfully held by the Missouri Woman's Suffrage Association in both large cities of the state and in not a few smaller ones. St. Louis, Kansas City, St. Joseph, Sedalia, Webster Grove, Hillsboro, Festus and DeSoto have already sent their women in gratifying numbers to such institutions, and extensive preparations are being made for an even more widespread organization of these most necessary and important classes.

Last week arrangements were concluded for the organization of citizenship schools in Louisiana, Milan, Chillicothe, Steelville, Rolla, Warrensburg, Keytesville, Hannibal, St. James, Jefferson City and Fulton. Other cities in which tentative arrangements for the schools are in progress are Joplin, Osceola, Nevada, Dexter and Lamar.

The successful citizenship schools of the suffragists are modeled after the college system, with 45-minute periods constituting a class. These periods are given over to lectures on various phases of governmental procedure and the operation and possibilities of the ballot. National, state and city government are considered, together with suffrage argument, suffrage principles, public speaking and debating, etc., and a question box is established for the reception of questions on these and similar matters which will be answered by the lecturer. The school usually closes with an outline of the principles of the two major parties, explained by prominent speakers.
